

Welcome To Odyssey!

Come one and all!

Build, and Play MMORPG's using The Odyssey! Odyssey is this system that is simple and easy to get a handle on. If you are finding the slightest bit of trouble, there is a tutorial section on the tool bar, along with the more important section of 'Downloads', just so you'd find it.

Well of course there are several things you Must be curious about by now. My OWN MMORPG, Building My OWN MMORPG? How amazing! But of course, there are a few limits. I'm telling you straight out these from the beginning so that you don't join, get disappointed, and leave. Here they are:

1. It isn't exactly MMORPG yet we are trying to recruit players for it. Hey- everyone's got to start somewhere! We currently have about 20 active players, rarely all on at the same time. Hopefully, subject to change. All we need are more people like you who come, and are willing to wait for others. We expect many more people will be coming as soon as Certain People release their servers to the public.
2. Some of the people who you will see when you start to play aren't really that experienced. They start out for the first time, people come and see them, think that the amount of horribleness the beginner is doing is all that odyssey can provide, and then they leave. Then, the person who wasn't experienced yet either continued playing in hopes to get better, or left because there is no one around! Odyssey is simple, but still requires practice, creativity, and patience... at least in making it, in playing, nothing is ever required!

Yes. That is it- Wow- So many limits.

You have the privilege to play on other peoples 'servers', and/or build your own! Depending on whatever tastes you find sweet, Heh! In the past we were pretty big and popular. Parsec, Old Main, Omens, even Bob's Odyssey, or as others call it Odyssey Classic, derives from this. Even though that was a pirated version that was stolen and distributed among others, but we won't get into that now will we? We're all above that. ^^

Ofcourse in being above it, that means we can throw stuff down at it! xD

People who play all agree that they obtained a lot from this. Valuable experience in computer scripting, artwork, landscape design, advertisement, music talent, song writing abilities, poetic thoughts, creative ideas, mass murder, car salesmanship, FBI investigations, foreign linguistics, ice cream, and all that... well.. okay.. not ALL of the people.. The only thing ALL the people agree is that this place is just plain fun! To find out more, check the toolbar on the left! ^^